Fujiko Signs worked as a market research consultant for computer manufacturing companies and taught Japanese language and literature at community colleges and universities across the United States. In her mid-thirties, Fujiko fell ill. As soon as she started reading about Christian Science, a prayer-based system of healing, she was healed of various stress-related illnesses. Now a full-time practitioner and teacher of Christian Science healing, Signs speaks internationally as a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship.
